I never had the pleasure of meeting John face to face, however, I have known him thru my work for the last six years. John always had a wonderful way of making me feel better, especially, when I faced health issues of my own. Even though John and I only talked on the phone, our conversations were very meaningful and made a huge impact on me. I believe God sends angels to help people in their time of need and I strongly believe that John Augustine was one of those angels.
