Chaun, what a cute way of writing with the acronyms. Remember how he answered to pooky just like that was his only name?!!! I called him that for the longest. Thanks for your kind words. Love you, cindi pearl

Karen, I hadn't seen this until now. Thankyou so much for your prayers and sweet words. It means so much. This is the worst thing that has ever happened to me. This afternoon, a lot of his friends are gathering in Marquette to release balloons for his birthday today. I believe the service will be Thursday at 2:30, viewing at 1:30. I love you, Thank everyone for me please. Cindi.

Cindi... It will be the little things that you will remember about Ron (aka Pookey), the quiet moments, the smiles and the laughter. And although it may seem hard right now, it will be the memories of these little things that help to push away the pain and slowly bring the smiles back again. Praying for family and friends to comfort you during your loss, and faith to uphold you along with the loving memories. Your family, friends will always be as close as a memory, and the God of all comfort will always be as close as a prayer. I know that words can't always mend your heartache but those who care and share your loss wish you comfort and peace of mind. And may you find strength in the love of your family and in the warm embrace of friends. Remember Proverbs 3: 5-6 Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths. With Sincerest Sympathy Aunt Glenda & Uncle Rodney Selectman and Taj Selectman Kansas City, Missouri

Cindi—There are just not any words to send you that will comfort you. All of us at work—your 3Pavilion family—were shocked and devastated when we heard the news. We all just wanted to stop work and come be with you. I was so glad Barbara and Anita were able to come along side you at this time. It is truly sad that we are so consumed with work we cannot break loose and come along side the ones we love. Only a parent that has lost a child can really know your broken heart and crushed spirit. And, of course, God as He gave up his own beloved Son for all of us so that one day we could see our loved ones again. Please know we love you so much. It is not the same around there without you. So many prayers are being lifted up for you and will continue to be lifted up as you walk this mournful path. I love you Sweet Cindi. Karen Overall

Only God Knows Only God Knows the joy you felt when he was born and how you held him close to your breast to keep him warm Only God Knows the bond you formed when he reached out to you with his trembling arms Only God Knows the nights you looked in on him as he slept in his crib and then was big enough to sleep in a bed Only God Knows the prayers you prayed as he began to grow and when he took his first steps in this world we know Only God Knows the struggles and trials you both endured to point him in the right way to face life's door Only God Knows the pain that you feel as he as He too had to lose His Son Dearest Cindi, Pauline, and the Gore Family, We are very saddened to hear the passing of Ron (aka Pooky) our great-nephew. We pray that God will comfort each of you with His Love and with these heart felt sentiments. With Our Deepest Sympathy. P- POOKY- Probably not the coolest nickname to give to a boy (smile). O- Oh well, it just seemed to fit. O- Ooo wee, I guess all I have left are memories K- Kinda don't know how to say goodbye to my nephew Y- You are loved. You will be missed. You be sure to give your dad a big hug from his little sis. I was your primary babysitter when you were just a little boy. When you became an adult, we didn't communicate as much, but I loved you much.
