My condolences to the family. I worked at The Medical Group for several years with Dr. Nick and always found him to be caring, thoughtful and professional to all of his patients. Even when we went through the rough period in the early 80's he still was our Dr. Nick. At one time I personally became a patient and was hospitalized and had a severe drug reaction after surgery and it was Dr. Nick who came to my rescue with the meds I needed. God bless him. He really was one of a kind because he was caring and honest with his patients. He always pretty much told you like it was. I hope now he can rest peacefully. The family is in my thoughts and prayers and know that Dr. Nick was so very special to me and to so many others.

Before 1985 Tennessee required a blood test before issuing a marriage license, I did not have a doctor. Dr. Nick's office was close to my house so we went to his office. Although I had never met the man he told us NO CHARGE, think of it as my wedding gift. A couple of years later after getting progressively sicker and weaker over a period of about 10 days I had a giant spike in my temperature and was convinced I needed to see a Doctor. Called up Dr. Nick and he had me come to his office immediately. After a chest X-ray he diagnosed me with pneumonia and wanted me admitted to hospital. I informed him that I had no insurance and could not afford a big bill. He remembered me and asked if I was still married or whether I had someone else at home to care for me? I answered yes to both questions. He then asked me if I had a thermometer at home. Not wanting to go to the hospital, I lied and said yes. He replied I know your lying or you would have been here last week! He gave me a handful of prescriptions and a thermometer and a bunch of instruction to have my wife call his office twice a day and scheduled a follow up appointment for 3 days later. On the day of my appointment he called my house early in the morning and informed me that because it was such a miserable day (cold with high winds blowing sleet and rain) I should not come in and he would come by my apartment to check on me! He said I still needed another X-ray just the same. I informed him that my temperature had returned close to normal and I was feeling a lot better. So, we agreed I would just come in the next day. Dr. Nick was one of the most empathetic humans I've ever met in my life. I will miss him and my thoughts are with his family now.?
