He will always live in a quiet place in your heart. He will always walk with you every day of your life from here on out. He will always be there to listen, and to give silent advice. He will always be the voice you hear, or the mannerisms you see in your kids, or grandkids. And he will always know that you loved him! Wish I could be there for you Gaye, but do not discount that he knew, and he had a hand, in our reconnecting this year. Looking forward to seeing you soon. Sending love and a big hug!
