I will never ever forget the trips to see Opal and Jack especially around Christmas time. they were my absolute favorite people to be around. Jack kept things lively and the way he picked at Opal til she was mad and then he would start laughing. Of course then she couldn't be mad, she knew he was just playing. Loved talking to them and just being near them. i think about those times so often, it wasn't the same after Opal died and Jack's health started going down almost immediately. I will think about those days we spent together for the rest of my life and I will never get over missing them. I loved them so much. Thoughts and prayers for happy memories to replace the pain you are feeling now.
