Could not have asked for a better step dad than this man. He was always smiling and was loving to my mom. The only comfort I have is knowing that his suffering is over and he is in heaven watching over his family. What I have learned from from my mom these past few days is he taught her to forgive others and to let things go cause it only robs you of your peace and happiness. I pray that that stays with me for the rest of my days. Love him always and forever. Judy Baldwin
