Steve Mitchell posted:

Mary was the best "big sister" I could ever have hoped for. Her love and mentoring were significant factors in my growth and development. She loved teaching, whether it was her elementary students or those interested in ancestry and legacy. Mary's skills in embroidery, needlepoint, and quilting were impressive. However, her number one love was for her God. She was active in church groups starting in junior high and served in many positions in every church she was affiliated with. She was a true P.K. and I will miss her deeply until we join together with our Heavenly Father. Stephen Mitchell, MDCaptain USNR Retired
