She made me smile when we would put each other down playing that game on our phones... everyday...something to make fun of the other person...

I met Rachel playing a clan game...talking smack from the start...everyday. It was such a blessing having met her and chatting with her daily. "Let the wind carry you home Blackbird, fly away May you never be broken again"

Although our paths converged for such a short time many years ago, I am grateful for having the opportunity to share our lives with each other. You were such a kind, beautiful and caring woman that made a permanent impact on my life. I pray that you are at peace. My condolences, Jeremy Fuller
