Christopher Stephan Webb

FEB 10, 1986 - MAR 15, 2026

Christopher Stephan Webb, 40, passed away on March 15, 2026. Chris was preceded in death by his mother, Stephanie Webb. He is survived by his wife, Jenni O. Webb, three sons, Stephan Webb and Daniel Webb, and Jayden Rain Robertson, two brothers, Christian Webb, and Courtney Webb, one sister, Christina Webb, father, Daniel Webb and his wife Xiomara, and a niece, Carrigan Djurickovic. He was a hardworking man who dreamed of opening his own drywall business with his sons, a goal that meant so much to him. He was a kid at heart, and life with him was never dull—there was always laughter, love, and unforgettable moments. He leaves behind a lifetime of memories that his family and friends will hold close forever.

The group misses you chris. It still doesn't feel the same knowing we wont hear you talk about songs you like or about the earth being flat and how you were the best screwer out of all of us. You were always a hard worker for sure and thats one thing we wont forget about you. Miss you like crazy brother.

Richard Webb lit a candle in honor of Christopher.

Christopher had the best smile. I'm his uncle and watched him grow up. He always had that smile and great spirit that would draw to him. As a young child along with his brothers, they were rambunctious he but was a good child and was very interested and inquisitive about you. I can see why he would be interested in starting his own business and would be successful in anything he chose as a career. We will miss him and we are praying for his family and friends. But I bet he's still smiling.

Chris shared a time of his life with my daughter and they had my first grandson, and when they broke up, it was so sad because my daughter had to move to Kentucky with the baby and afterward, Chris lived with me for 2 years. He was a lot like my best friend there for A while. One day after I got off work , he was walking up to my car window and as I was unlocking my phone , it takes a picture of whoever's holding the phone and he accidentally photo bombed me this day. He called me his little buddy.. Always thought of Chris , as my family , even after he and my daughter parted ways. I'll always think of him fondly...

We use to go hiking and found the prettiest spots. I also talked him into playing dungeons and dragons, and he ended up burning my character's hut down. He was always goofy, and he will be missed.
